

THE DUBLIN REVIEW.

97
THIRD SERIES.

VOL. XIV.

JULY—OCTOBER.

MDCCCLXXXV.

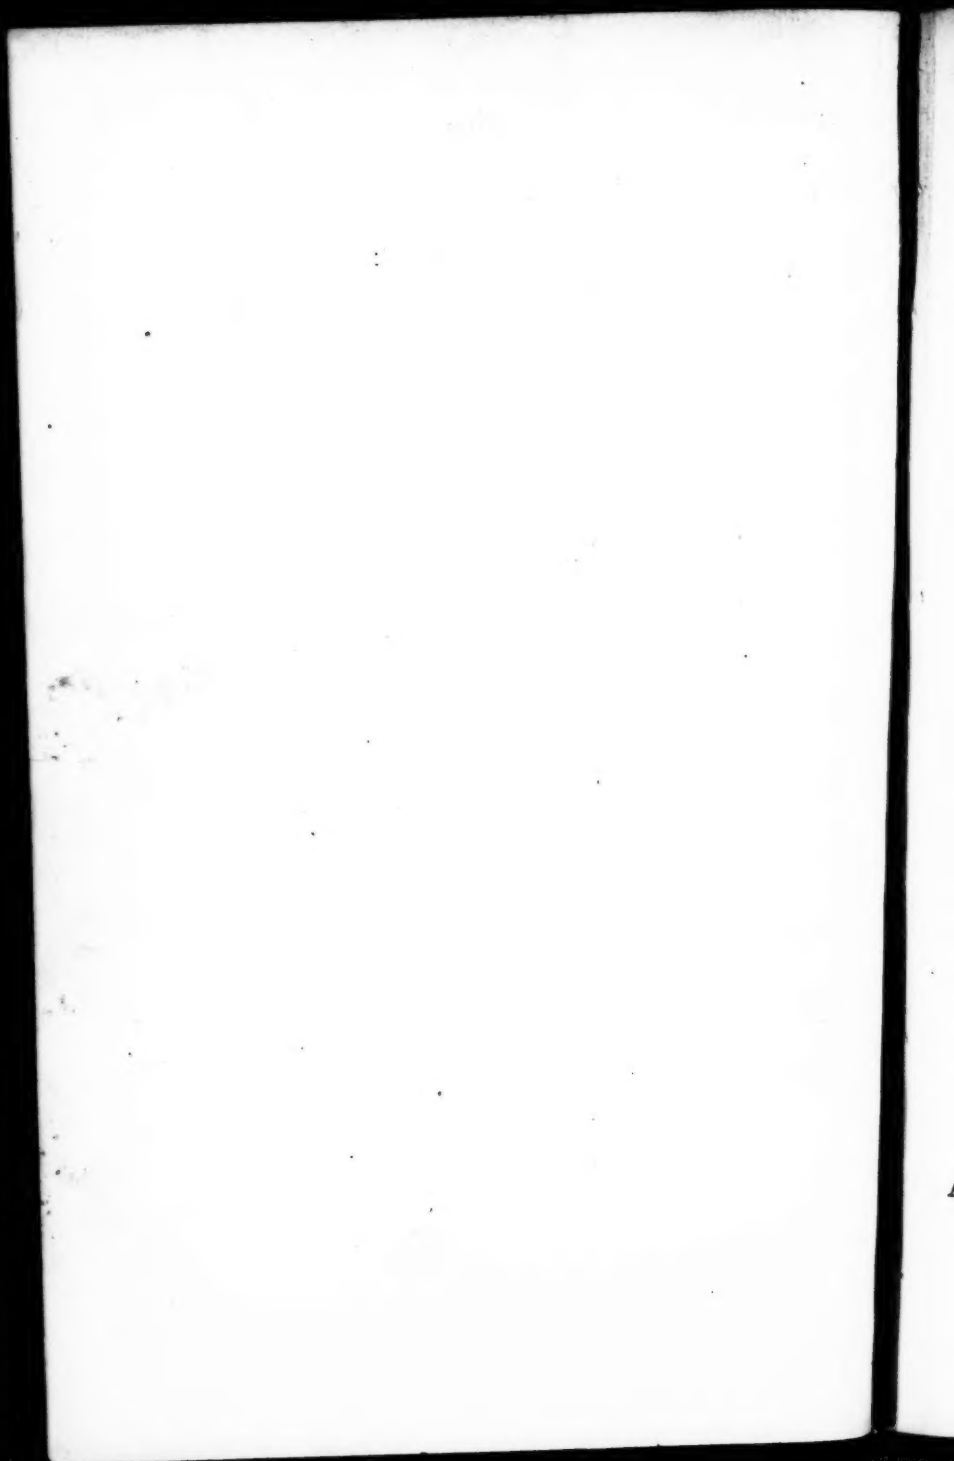

PUB. LIBRARY,
EAST MICH.
SEP 17 1888

LONDON: BURNS & OATES.

DUBLIN: M. H. GILL & SON.

NEW YORK: CATHOLIC PUBLICATION SOCIETY CO.
9, BARCLAY STREET.

1885.

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—MARITIME CANALS	PAGE 1
Great issues involved in the shifting of maritime highways —Examples of the three kinds of ship canals—Story of the Suez Canal, the great example of the third kind—British trade has, on the whole, suffered by the Suez Canal—That canal's disturbing influence on international relations—Central American Canal—M. de Lesseps's plan—Difficulties attending the project; its gradual realization—Crusade against isthmuses.
ART. II.—STUDIES IN ORIENTAL PATROLOGY: ST. EPHREM	20
Beauty of St. Ephrem's original compositions—The various translations of them; Arabic, Armenian—Latin edition of Gerard Vassius—Finding of the Syriac text—Recent editions—Portrait of St. Ephrem—His hymns—His life—At the siege of Nisibis he saves the city—Goes to Edessa; writes his commentaries; makes a journey to St. Basil—He writes his popular hymns; his death.
ART. III.—CATHOLICS AND MODERN LITERATURE	45
Why the attitude of Catholics towards modern literature is of gravest importance—Modern Literature becoming modern Dogma: "Church of Literature," a fact of greatest consequence to Catholics—Our modern literary theologians and apostles—Mr. Matthew Arnold's description and claim for modern literature: its anti-Christian character—What can Catholics do? They must recognize the serious danger in "light literature," wrong standards, false disinterestedness, deification of self-will—Victor Hugo a supreme example of the "liberating movement"—Right criticism, a crying want.
ART. IV.—PRESENT POSITION OF THE ARGUMENTS FOR THE EXISTENCE OF GOD	65
The arguments have never been put in better form than as anciently; but they need to be expressed in modern language—The “ontological” proof differs from the “psychological,” which last very important—Objections raised against the “cosmological” proofs considered—The intelligence of the first cause; “teleological” proof—Array of unprejudiced testimony to evidences of design and adaptation—Teleology and evolution; “development” distinguished from evolution—What proof have we of the power and intelligence of the divinity?

ART. V.—“THE HOLY FACE” 78

“The Holy Face” one of the three Great Relics of the Vatican basilica—The legend of St. Veronica; great antiquity of the evidence for it—Two popular legends from Mrs. Jameson—Veneration for the house of Veronica—How the relic got to Rome; history of the veneration there paid it—Chaucer’s “vernicle,” a pilgrim’s Veronica—Present condition of the “Holy Face”—Various accounts of the death-place of St. Veronica: her mission in Médoc—Modern revival of devotion to the “Holy Face”: The Holy Man of Tours.

ART. . . .—THE ROYAL COMMISSION AND THE HOMES OF THE POOR 102

Competence of individual Commissioners—Importance of the Report: most important part being the Recommendations—Some preliminary criticisms as to the general form of the Report—The Report criticized by its own supplementary memoranda—Recommendations of political importance; reform of local government, of municipality of London, of county administration—Other groups of recommendations: detailed criticism; shortcomings; diversity of opinion among the Commissioners—Two reflections on the Report (1) as to duty of proprietors, (2) as to urban improvements—Appendices: Summaries of recommendations and of the supplemental memoranda.

ART. VII.—ELECTRIC LIGHT AND ENERGY 120

Present opinion as to the nature of Electricity—Frictional and induction machines—Dynamos: the principle of them: various forms of—Storage batteries—Three kinds of electric lamps; the difference between them—Advantages of the incandescent lamp as an artificial light—The future of electric lighting.

ART. VIII.—THE INDIAN REVENUE AND INTOXICANTS . . . 135

Country spirit in India: two systems of levying the revenue from it—Consumption of country spirits confined to the lower classes—Tari or toddy, Pachwai, Ganja—Classes who do not drink consume intoxicating drugs—Revenue from opium—The question of liquor versus drugs—Drinking and drunkenness in India compared with Europe—Drunkenness essentially a savage vice.

ART. IX.—ON THE FORMATION OF KNOWLEDGE . . . 148

Canon Walker—How knowledge begins; the mind a tabula rasa, yet with capacity for receiving impressions—This receptivity involuntary—Origin of the impressions: alternative theories—Objective reality of phenomena—Facts not of themselves knowledge—Construction of knowledge from facts—Conclusions arrived at: Ideas extracted from semi-impressions—First act of the Intellect: Abstraction—Second act: Reconstruction—“Nihil in intellectu quod non prius in sensu”—Phenomena interpreted by pre-existing ideas—Recognition of this process of knowledge helps intellectually to attainment of truth; and socially in estimating character—And sometimes, in reforming it.

SCIENCE NOTICES . . . 172

The “Challenger” Expedition—Our Coal Supply—Lightning Conductors—Meteorology—A New Armour for Ships.

NOTES OF TRAVEL AND EXPLORATION . . . 177

Russian Central Asia—Cossack Colonies—Lake Issik-Kul—Mr. Stanley on the Congo—Commercial Products—The Slave Dealers’ Track—The Maritime Alps—On the Track of the Crescent—Suakin in War Time—Manchester Geographical Society—Congo Free State—Steam Communication on the Congo—Physical Geography of Persia—Trade Routes—Opening of Euphrates Valley—The Afghan Border—The Debateable Land—The Trans-Caspian Territory—Tekké Turcomans—Horses of the Steppe—Border Forays—Rapid Journeys from Persia.

	PAGE
NOTES ON NOVELS	187
Mr. Butler's Ward—Heart Salvage—A Laodicean—A Bit of Human Nature—Diana of the Crossways—A Perilous Secret—Ellen Middleton—Anthony Fairfax—The Shadow of a Crime—Affinities—New Arabian Nights—The Dynamiter—1794: a Tale of the Terror.
NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS	199
Salamanca Theologians—Character of Philip II.—Bishop Steno—St. Thomas "De Pulchro"—Letters of St. Ignatius—The Election of Emperors and the Holy See—Nicholas V. and the War against the Turks—Unpublished Letters of St. Bernard—Ancient Astronomy and Primitive History—Symbolical Import of Egyptian Pyramids—The Italian Enterprise in Africa—Everlasting Punishment—Père Lacordaire as a Spiritual Director.
NOTICES OF BOOKS	210
The Cardinal Archbishop's Office of the Church in Higher Catholic Education—Father Marc's Institutiones Alphonsianæ—Archbishop Moran's Persecutions of Irish Catholics under Cromwell—Father Lehmkuhl's Theology—Cardinal Hergenröther's Church History—Dr. Bellesheim's Cardinal Allen—Dr. Gargan's Translation of Baluffi's Charity of the Church—Father Feeney's Home Duties—The Vicomte d'Hussell's La Démocratie—A. Maskell's Russian Art—H. A. Giles's Gems of Chinese Literature—Father Conway's Early and Mediæval Abingdon—A Modern Dædalus—Bishop Temple's Religion and Science—Monumenta Vaticana Regni Hungariæ—Rev. H. Friend's Flowers and Flower-Lore—E. Bellasis's New Terence and Money Jar at Edgbaston—J. Gillow's Dictionary of English Catholics.
BOOKS OF DEVOTION AND SPIRITUAL READING.	240
RECORD OF ROMAN DOCUMENTS (at end).

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—WHAT HAS THE CHURCH TO DO WITH SCIENCE? .	PAGE 243
---	-------------

Church has nothing to do formally with Science as such, but has incidentally, through: 1. Her teaching as to certain philosophic errors—2. The connection of Science and the Bible, of which the Church is the official custodian and interpreter—3. Because she checks the conclusions of Science of Ethics—Binding force of the Church's pronouncements bearing on Science—Difference between Pope's doctrinal and disciplinary authority: latter can be delegated; nature of Galileo's case—Scientific men must trust the Church.

ART. II.—THE IRISH QUESTION. 1. A POLICY FOR IRELAND .	254
--	-----

Contrast between the English and Irish democracies; the problem in each country is a different one—In Ireland Protestant influence overrides popular feeling and right—Two countries mutually dependent: a Grattan Parliament impossible—Autonomy for Ireland (the whole management of her own affairs), if by means of county Boards, would be without danger to the unity and interests of the Empire—The advantages of such county Boards; scheme for their constitution—Realization of such a scheme which would come more easily and naturally from Conservative party: indeed it is their great opportunity.

2. TITHE-RENT CHARGE IN IRELAND	265
---	-----

The nature of the grievance which led to the Tithe riots—Now the alien Church is disestablished, but the Tithe-rent Charge still presses severely on an impoverished Irish landocracy—Testimonies of English Protestant Statesmen to character of "Irish Church"—The Landlords transformed into tithe-proctors—The Disestablishment Act did not, as it ought, abolish the Tithe-rent Charge—The Land Act of 1881 reburdens the Landlord with the charge, and destroys the source whence he derived it—Mr. Gladstone's admissions, and his plain duty.

ART. III.—THE GATES OF INDIA	PAGE 276
Natural riches of the Heri Valley—Needed fortification of Herat; its present condition, beauties, climate, population—Ancient history of Herat; its recent vicissitudes—Heroic defence of the city by Eldred Pottinger—Its commercial importance—Its strategical value—Russia's advance and England's credulity—The Frontier Commission—Russian communications eastward; commercial prosperity on the Caspian—The future: junction of European and Asian railway routes.
ART. IV.—SOUVENIRS OF A MISSIONARY COLLEGE	301
The small beginning of the Missionary College at Mill Hill—Modelled after the French College des Missions Etrangères, the spirit of which is illustrated in the recently published "Souvenirs"—Story of the Missions Etrangères—The seven characteristics of its missionary spirit—These illustrated in detail by the poems in the "Souvenirs."
ART. V.—MR. HENRY GEORGE AND THE LAND	325
Mr. Henry George's intellectual powers and his style—Meaning of his doctrine, that private property in land is unjust; his theory as to the mode in which land was first occupied—His views would lead to the instability of society, and the impossibility of the existence of any State—Extract from "Wealth and Want"—Mr. George's first proof of his position: "Production the only source of ownership"—His second: "All natural things are and remain common property"—His third, from the evils which he alleges property in land to have produced—The real aspirations of the working classes not extreme; the "Free Land League"—Some books mentioned.
ART. VI.—THE SO-CALLED "SACRED BOOKS" OF CHINA . .	346
The Chinese "Classics" not recognized by the Chinese as "sacred": what their real character is as regards religion, to be learned by examination of them—The "Shu-king," or Book of History, is not a Chinese Genesis—An account of the "Hong-fan," containing a résumé of the science of the Chinese twelve centuries before Christ—Examination of the Yi-king: fanciful system of signs—The Shi-king—Little religious thought in any of these Books.

ART. VII.—THE PROPHECIES OF S. MALACHI

Divergence of opinion among Catholics and others regarding the character of these prophecies—A detailed examination of the prophetic mottoes for each Pontiff's reign—Striking prediction as to the last persecution of the Church: the Sabbatic system of chronology and date of the Second Advent.

ART. VIII.—THE OUTCOME OF LUTHERANISM IN PRUSSIA 387

Alarming irreligious tendency in Prussia: interest of the subject to Catholics—Extent of the evil: infidelity among so-called Christian teachers—The Protestanten Verein and the Divinity of Our Lord—The infidels logically claim to be good Lutherans—Real object of the Verein: its hatred of the Catholic Church; persecution of the Orders.

ART. IX.—HOW SHALL CATHOLICS VOTE AT THE COMING PARLIAMENTARY ELECTION? 401

Relation of the Catholic Church in this country to the commonwealth and people of England—Corresponding duties of Catholics—The question of Disestablishment—The welfare of the people and housing of the poor—Change in the land laws inevitable—The drink traffic—Saving of Christian education the most vital and urgent measure—Two crucial questions to be put to coming candidates.

SCIENCE NOTICES 412

The Eocene Man—Flint Implements—The Nebula of Andromeda—The Iguanodon—The Iguanodon of Bernissart—Coal Mine Explosions—The Panama Canal.

NOTES OF TRAVEL AND EXPLORATION 417

Ultima Thule—The Norwegian Lapps—The Aurora Borealis—A Russian Customs Barrier in Central Asia—The Caroline Islands—New Harbours on the Mozambique Coast—African Ruins—A New African Waterway—The Latest March across Africa—Recent British Annexations in Africa—Discovery of Water in the Tunisian Sahara—Recent Russian Surveys of Central Asia—Central Asian Landscape—The Alai Mountains—Great Central Asian Glaciers—Aryan and Turanian Races—Ascent of Mount Roraima—A Link with the Stone Age.

NOTES ON NOVELS	PAGE 426
Mr. Crawford's Zoroaster—Mr. Pater's Marius the Epicurean—Edna Lyall's In the Golden Days—Lucas Malet's Colonel Enderby's Wife—Mr. Anstey's The Tinted Venus—Lady G. Stoke's Nature's Nursling.
NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS	433
NOTICES OF BOOKS	444
Father Breen's Anglican Orders—Father Coleridge's Preparation of the Incarnation—Pruente's Translation of Brueck's Church History—Monumenta Vaticana Hungarica—Dr. Wasserschleben's Irische Kanonensammlung—Leonis X. Regesta—Father Denifle's Universities of Middle Ages—Father Russo's Summa Philosophica—Father Goldie's Saints of Wessex and Wilts—Les Quatres Evangiles—Dr. Bagshawe's Catechism and Scripture—Archbishop Walsh's Grammar of Gregorian Music, and Officium Defunctorum—Dr. Richards' Manual of Scripture History—Edwin de Lisle's Centenary Studies—Crowe and Cavalcaselle's Raphael—H. Jerningham's Russia's Warnings—Maguire's Pius IX.—Father Perry's Stonyhurst Meteorological Observations—Clermont-Ganneau's Fraudes Archéologiques—P. Daryl's Le Monde Chinois—E. Healy Thompson's Life of M. Olier—Lotze's Microcosmus—Madame Coignet's François I^{er}—Minor Poetry—J. H. McNaughton's Onnalinda—Rev. W. Stang's Eve of the Reformation—Lina's Tales—Little Snow-white—Little Lamb—New Edition of Callista—Father Coppen's Art of Oratorical Composition—Brownson's Works, Vol. xix.—A. T. Sadlier's Women of Catholicity—H. Conscience's The Lost Glove—Monte Carlo—Drinkwater's Plays and Poems—Field's Callirrhœ and Fair Rosamund—Dr. Philip Schaff's Oldest Church Manual, &c.
BOOKS OF DEVOTION AND SPIRITUAL READING	481
Circular on our Criticism of Dr. Gargan's Translation of Baluffi's "Charity of the Church," and Reviewer's Reply	485
RECORD OF ROMAN DOCUMENTS (at end).	